

Universal Electron Flood Theory replaces Standard Models 10-01-2018 “EFT”

These claims are very simple and well supported.

I intend to demonstrate that every mysterious interaction can be explained with a few simple changes to what is now considered the nature of atoms. This Einsteinian theory of energy and the atomic model is not correct and the experimental evidence is unimpeachable.

This basic error means errors in all that follows which is everything.

Time to completely start over on energy and atoms and light and what is in space.

I am not simply bucking the system I am trying to fix it and maybe create free power.

These simple venturi experiments you will see demonstrate plasma creation and possible precursor to sustained low cost cold fusion. Low cost and continuous because... the accelerator venturi is passive hard device that requires no input power whatsoever.

Not only do these very minor changes in theory explain every electrical and magnetic reaction...it also explains planets and the motion and interactions of everything in the Universe including weather patterns and the actions of the Sun and our magnetic field and even the curve-ball in baseball.

How can I make these bold claims? Because scientists missed the fact that light is electrons and an electron is a particle that has a net negative charge so repels every other electron.

All atoms are coated with electrons so everything in matter is surrounded by negative charges. That means that anything moving thru any atmosphere or liquid exerts a repulsive RIGHT HAND rule force on anything it crashes thru. This crash into other electrons zones causes them to glow and all this is seen in the videos on Mudfossil University on Youtube.

A spinning baseball curves due to the interaction and a left hand spin creates crazy interactions.

Experiments and actual photos of these energy and particle claims were done in 2015 and studied since. Lights glow and light regions and acceleration thru a standard venturi are seen and the particles obvious and the aether seen glowing. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Hb8pvboJEYo&t=345s>

This includes sono luminescence and red shifts and Dark Matter and Higgs Bosons in the energy realm. Black holes and Galactic arms and Solar wind and the Solar Coronal extremes and Venus extreme heat and Venus differing day lengths.

These very minor changes explain even Gravity and anti gravity as seen in atomic bombs as the core rises due to becoming positively charged after compressed electrons flew away as extreme light.

What changes in Standard Theory?

What are these simple modifications that are so powerful and revolutionary?

First.....

The nuclear core is comprised of only negatives and positives. Neutrons do not exist in electron flood theory.

Protons are flooded with electrons until the nucleus is balanced and then a slight net excessive negative in the nucleus causes additional electrons to be held in orbitals of exact quanta in exact distances due to positive attraction from the nucleus and the negative repulsion from the excessive negative nuclear core. This also explains the Hydrogen “only a Proton and Electron” which is a bar magnet not an atom.

At 1:20 in this video you will see the nature of atomic orbitals. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bRDKOcfI-Y>

Light can be accelerated in a Venturi and has been photoed as it accelerated and creates the interference patterns because it spins as it travels these patterns are not from waves.

There are dozens of videos that are empirical evidence of every electronic interaction and seen as they occur and photoed and explained using EFT.

In 2016 experiments captured light in every interaction. This is a red pulsed laser simply flowing thru air in a darkened room.

This is the red laser being accelerated thru a simple venturi. Notice the tiny glowing dots ...they are the free electrons being excited in air primarily. Notice the stretch and the electron beam and the Cerenkov radiation and the interference patterns from the spinning negative particles that create the pattern not waves....as they invade each others magnetic regions passing thru the venturi and form lines from repulsion.

This is what is seen coming from the venturi. It appears to be white filaments of charged particles which carry a charge and move at an accelerated high speed. These particles soon crash into unrestricted air and slam into it creating polarized fields around a tiny negative charge carrier light particle. The circular pattern is known as the Higgs field. It is identical to the field surrounding a DC electrical wire and seen with iron filings and it obeys the right hand spin as well.

This is an electron neutrino collision and it appears identical to what we photoed....under the same conditions shown. I make no Muon claims.

In the Higgs Field picture there is a bright white dot which I think is a reverse spin electron. It reacted strangely when it collided with a Polarized Higgs magnetic field. Light was used to create the white plasma and it was light that created this particle and It appears from this photo light can be divided.
